FAS101 S EK Hinge Side Lock

Art.-Nr. ABFS24487

The ABUS FAS101 additional window security lock is used to secure the hinge side. You should secure the opening side separately. When you open the window, the FAS101 simply moves with it; in order to tilt the window you must first unlock the security bolt. Once the window has been tilted, the bolt must be pushed in again. The hinge side lock is mounted on the casement and on the frame. Thanks to its narrow design the FAS101 can be used where installation space is tight.

Technologies

- For securing the hinge side
- Slim design, especially for narrow installation conditions
- Convenient operation via locking bolt, no key required
- Pressure resistance against prying open is over 1 tonne
- For inward-opening windows and French doors on the hinge side
- VdS-approved, DIN-tested
