Protected from the sun

With our LINDA sun protector awning, you can ensure that your baby is protected in the pram when you go for a walk.

For babies and toddlers, make sure you have extra sun protection when you go out for a pram ride. Because the little bundles of joy react much more sensitively to sunlight and heat than adults. Our LINDA sun protector awning provides the shade you need and keeps out over 95 percent of harmful UV rays. It is attached to the top of the cover and the push handle and can be pushed backwards or forwards again if required. This way, you can quickly establish visual contact with your child should he or she become restless. LINDA scores with discreet elegance thanks to its dark anthracite shade and matches almost every pram in terms of colour.
