Helix 4512K/180

PRACTICAL SECOND LOCK WHEN OUT AND ABOUT

The Helix 4512K/180 spiral cable lock ideally complements existing bike locks and flexibly secures accessories or components.

The ABUS Helix 4512K/180 is a robust spiral cable lock with a super-flexible cable for short stops and additional security in everyday life. The 12 mm spiral cable offers a good combination of flexibility and comfortable handling. The plastic coating reliably protects sensitive surfaces from scratches and damage to paintwork. The high-quality automatic cylinder with key enables fast locking and opening. The spiral cable lock is particularly practical as a supplement to a U-lock or folding lock to additionally secure the rear wheel, helmet or accessories.

Technologies

- 12 mm thick spiral cable (incl. coating): flexible steel cable for protection during short stops
- 180 cm cable length: large locking range for convenient connection to bike racks, railings or other fixed objects – even at greater distances
- Paint-friendly coating: plastic-coated cable protects the bike frame and surfaces from scratches
- Automatic locking: lock locks automatically when the end piece is inserted – convenient locking without a key
- Two reversible keys included: key can be used regardless of the insertion direction – for quick and convenient opening
- Compact spiral design: Cable automatically retracts after opening – saves space during transport

Use and application

- Suitable for short-term protection: for short stops with a low risk of theft, for example, in front of a bakery, kiosk,
